PURCHASER GOT SORBY.

Bolton Man Sued by South Coventry Owner from Whom He Bought Horse.

Frank Oakley of South Coventry has brought a civil action against Isnac Harrowitz of Bolton. The claim is for $100 for a protested check. Last week Monday the plaintift sold the defendant a pair of horses, a wagon and harnesses. The price agreed upon was $225. On that amount a check for $100 was given and the balance was n two notes, one payable in four and the other in six months. Tuesday evening, while Mr. Oakley was away the horses were returned and left at Mr. Oakley's farm. The bank was then notified by flarrowitz not to honor the check drawn to Oakley's order, Mr. Oakley had the horses returned to Mr. Cakley had the horses returned to Harrowitz's place and they are now in the latter's possession. The suit is over the check, and is returnable be-fore Justice of the Peace William B, limitington of North Coventry, on August 31. Attorney P. J. Danahey is counsel for the plaintiff.

CLERK FENTON TRUSTEE

Of the Estate of the Late Rebecca Young-Grandchildren Petition for Appointment.

Monday afternoon there was a hearing before Judge James A. Shea on a petition asking for the appointment of a trustee on the estate of the late Redecca Young, mother of Charles A. Young, 11 South atreet. The petition was filed with the probate court by the children of Mr. Young, who have instituted litigation for the express purpose, according to their claim, to project their interests in the property in pose, according to their claim, to pre-tect their interests in the property, in which their father has a life use. Attorney Chapman of Bridgeport ap-peared for Attorney Edward K. Nich-olson of Bridgeport, who is conneel for the children. Attorneys Thomas J. Kelley and William A. King appeared for the estate of the late Edwin A. Buck, as Mr. Buck was trustee of the tatale at the time of his death. At-torney Charles A. Cancer ampeared for catale at the time of his death. At-torney Charles A. Capen appeared for Charles A. Young in the matter. No one entered objection to the appoint-ment of a trustee, but as to who should be trustee Attorney Chapman said that Attorney Nicholson had suggested that Attorney S. E. Harvey, but did not urge it, but did insist that wheever was appointed by a disinterested ner. was appointed be a disinterested per-son. Attorney Kelley said that it had been previously agreed upon that no lawyer should be trustee.

Attorney Capen said that he was very friendly with Attorney Harvey, but objected to his appointment as trustee for two reasons—first, that he had heard that Attorney Harvey had been accordance with Liverpur Nich. een associated with Attorney Nich-ison in the matter, and second, that a practically all of the litigation that had been instituted against his client Mr. Young, Attorney Harvey had actas counsel for the plaintiff in the Following a short conference, torney Kelley and Attorney Chapman called on Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton and tendered him the berth as trustee. They then went back to the court room and Attorney Kelley stated that all had agreed upon Frank P. Fenton as the trustee, although he had agreed to accept after some hesitancy. Attorney Kelley stated that according to the report filed with the probate court all report filed with the probate court all the property there was in the estate amounted to but $51, and in view of that fact he recommended that the bond be only a nominal one. Should the parties represented by Attorney Chapman find what they hoped for the bond could be increased accordingly. This was entirely satisfactory to Judge Shes, and he appointed Mr. Fenton trustee under a bond of $100.

HISTORIC COVENTRY.

The town of Coventry will celebrate its bloentennial during the week beginning Sunday next, August 25. Historically, the town is principally noted as the birthplace of the patriot-martyr, Nathan Hale. The Nathan Hale birthplace is visited by many and the monument erected to the revolutionary here in the Nathan Hale cemetery is an imposing shaft.

South Coventry is the principal visinge in the town and especially in Freeman Authorize Borough Officials ning Coming Next Week to Have Coventry's first white settlers came from Hartford and Northampton about 1700. The first house was that of Samuel Burchard. The name Coventry was received from the general assembly in 1711 and the first town meeting was held in 1712, to see if the town would establish a grist mill. The land now occupied by the town was once owned by the Pequot Indians and was lost to them, after a battle, to the Mohican Indians, Jesse Root, who became chief justice of the supreme Miss Laura May Richie died Sunday evening at her home on Mathewson street after a lingering illness.
